A program beginning with Mass in the chapel, followed by swimming, foot races and games for everyone, lunch and dancing has been arranged.

Features of the day will be the football game on Agnon field between the San Francisco Boys' club and the Saint Mary's frosh, and the broadcast of the varsity encounter with the Loyola Lions direct from the Coliseum at Los Angeles.

Coffee will be served free of charge to those attending the picnic, but the picnickers will be expected to bring their own lunches, committeemen said.

Latins and Irish May Cooperate

Eire Oge Proposes Joint Sponsorship Of Barn Dance

"My Wild Irish Rose" and "O Sole Mio" will vie for top honors if the plans of James Brady, president of the Eire Oge, local Irish society, materialize.

A dual promotion of a barn dance at Valente's barn, near Lafayette, by the Irish society and the Dante club, campus Italian society, was proposed by the Irish club prexy .

At a meeting of the Gaelic group to be held next week a committee will be appointed by Brady to seek the cooperation of the Italian club in promoting the affair.

If cooperation is secured between the campus international groups, the chief stumbling block will then be the social committee, which may prove to be just that in view of the crowded social calendar.

However, if permission is granted to hold the dance it will be given near Thanksgiving.

Thomas More and Columbus Articles In Next Quarterly

Distribution of the Moraga Quarterly, Saint Mary's faculty publication, will take place within two weeks, according to Professor James L. Hagerty, Quarterly editor.

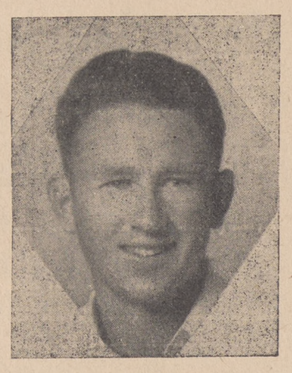
As usual, faculty contributions will compose the greater part of this edition of the Quarterly, Professor Hagerty said. In addition to faculty contributions, the coming edition will contain poems by Saint Mary's students and several articles by persons not connected with the college in any capacity.

Among the articles by members of the college faculty will be one written by Professor Hagerty, one by Brother Z. Leo, and several poems by Brother V. Leo. Professor Claude Silva will write an essay on Saint Thomas More.

Other articles will include "Christopher Columbus," by Profesor Louis LeFevre, and an article on Meredith, poet and novelist, by Brother Virgil.



Plans for Rally

Harry Hooper, grand knight of the local chapter of the Knights of Columbus, who will sponsor the annual Santa Clara rally-dance on the campus next month, announced his committee this week.

Knights Prepare For Bronco Rally

'Beat Santa Clara' Keynote of Affair; Fans Anticipate Win

"Beat Santa Clara" will be the keynote of the annual "Little Big Game" rally and dance prior to Saint Mary's-Santa Clara gridiron classic next month, according to Harry Hooper, grand knight of the local Knights of Columbus, rally dance sponsors.

Anticipating the first Gael victory over the peninsula Bronco in three years, two thousand students, alumni, and fans are expected to crowd their way into Madigan gymnasium for the second and last football rally dance of the collegiate year, Hooper said.

Continuing a local custom, no admission will be charged to the rally. A fee of 50 cents will be charged all gentlemen who wish to dance after the rally, but women will be admitted free.

Women Invited

Invitations to be guests of the ASSMC have been extended to the collegiennes of Holy Names, Dominican, and San Francisco College for Women.

Music for the rally will be furnished by Sophomore Jack Kelly's orchestra.

"There will be fewer speeches and more dancing at this rally dance," promised Grand Knight Hooper.

Outside entertainment will be featured during the rally.

Assisting Hooper is a committee consisting of Bill Dooms, George Fernandez, Barney McDonald, Karl Orth, and Herschel Smyth.

Holy Names Girls To Aid Local Dramatic Students

Definite assurance that the College of Holy Names would cooperate with local dramatists in staging plays was given to William Simon, debating and dramatics coach, by authorities at the Oakland school.

Under the terms of the agreement it was tentatively decided that each school would alternate in producing the plays, with the staging of at least one drama a semester, Simon stated.

Efforts will be made to enlist the support of the student bodies of both institutions in regard to attendance at the dramatic ventures.

Reappointed to the position of manager of dramatics was Joseph McCarthy, senior student, who last year handled the production of the passion play "Ecce Homo" staged by the student players in Madigan gymnasium.

Vehicles for production will be selected in the near future, several plays already being in mind from previous seasons, production of which was hampered by the lack of actresses.

Last Rites Held Yesterday for Mrs.MargaretMoore

Funeral services were held yesterday morning at Sacred Heart Church in Oakland for Mrs. Margaret Moore, mother of James Moore, member of the present senior class.

Celebrant of the Mass was the Reverend Father Denis Moore, another son.

Mrs. Moore is survived by a third son, Matthew, and two daughters, Margaret and Catherine.

Condolences

On behalf of the Associated Students of Saint Mary's and the faculty, the COLLEGIAN expresses condolences to James Moore '39, on the death of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Moore, this week.

UC Girls Debate SM Boys on Dutch Treat Topic

Donnelly-Quittman Team Face Berkeley Women Here Tuesday

The SRO sign will be hung in de La Salle lounge Tuesday evening when two fair representatives of the University of California Newman hall visit the campus to debate the negative side of the question "Resolved: That All Dates Should Be Dutch Treats."

Fighting for the reduction in the cost of dates will be the Saint Mary's team of Joseph Donnelly, senior honor student, and Alvin Quittman, COLLEGIAN editor.

The debate, which will be first intercollegiate encounter of the forensic year, will mark the opening of increased debating activity in the hitherto neglected fall semester.

Predictions that the SRO sign will be used Tuesday night are based upon the fact that every appearance of a woman's team on the campus has resulted in a capacity crowd making its appearance, John Williams, newly appointed debate manager, said.

In past years the speakers of the weaker sex have argued on the advantages of co-education, the proposition that "Grand mother Made a Better Wife than the Present Day Girl," and many other similar light topics with audience appeal.

Co-ed teams from the College of Pacific, Mills College, Holy Names and the San Francisco College for Women have appeared on the campus in the past.

In addition to the debate with Newman on Tuesday, Williams announced that a return encounter with the same opponent would be held on the University of California campus on the 27th of October.

The complete schedule announced by Williams for the fall semester up until the time of the Thanksgiving recess includes debates with San Francisco State, San Jose State, College of the Pacific, University of California, Stanford University, University of San Francisco and San Quentin.

Significant is the scheduling of the debate with the forensic team of San Quentin since a Saint Mary's team is the only intercollegiate debating squad ever to defeat the prison inmates in a forensic encounter.

Students Want Business Careers

School of Economics Has Most Enrolled; A&L Close Behind

A preference for a business career on the part of the average Saint Mary's student was shown this week by information released by the office of the recorder.

Once more enrolling the largest number of students was the school of Economics and Business Administration, followed closely by the school of Arts and Letters.

A comparison with the same period last year shows a definite increase in the number of men enrolled under the Arts and Letters curriculum, while the school of Economics and Business Administration remained practically stationary. A lack of numerical increase in the ranks of the science majors was also noticeable, the registrar's office reports.

Largest classes, according to the reports, are frosh and sophomore philosophy, listed in the catalog as Philosophy 5a and Philosophy 3a respectively.

Economics 60a, lower division accounting, is the leading class in the school of Economics and Business Administration, followed closely by Economics 140, statistics.

Leading the field in the sciences is Geology 1a, followed closely by Chemistry 7. Geology 1a shows the largest increase in enrollment of any subject taught, while the members of chemistry classes constitute the largest group ever to enroll for instruction in that subject.

Heading the parade in the historical subjects is History 51a, European history. Largest upper division history class is 112a, medieval history.

Spanish and German are the most popular language courses, German being a poor second. English 2a, a composition course, leads all English subjects in the number enrolled, and Religion 105, upper division religion, boasts the greatest number of enrollees.

Statue Dedication Inaugurates Catholic Action Program Today

SACRED HEART STATUE BLESSED THIS MORNING

As a part of the Catholic Action Mass celebrated in the college chapel this morning, dedicatory ceremonies were held for a statue of the Sacred Heart, a gift to Saint Mary's from Mrs. Andrew Welch of Burlingame, a noted friend of the college.

The life-size statue, sculptured by Giovanni B. Portanova, is exhibited in the right-hand niche in the sanctuary. The artist has been working on the statue for the last three months.

Portanova is famed for his sculpturing, and, as Brother Cornelius remarked, "is such a high-minded artist that he will not sacrifice his high standards of art for achievement in the commercial world."

Born in Sicily, the artist studied as a youth in Rome. He came to San Francisco with the World's Fair of 1915 to work at the Italian building, and has since that time done much in this region.

Other examples of his work to be seen here are the figures in the altar and in the sanctuary of the chapel.

The donation of the statue ties in with the general spirit of other contributions, almost the entire chapel, including windows of statuary, being donated by various friends of Saint Mary's.

YMI Sponsors Fordham Dance

'Off to Fordham' Affair Set for Oct. 21 in Gymnasium

Football players departing for the annual tour to Fordham and parts East will leave this region with the sweet swing music of Jack Kelly's orchestra in their ears, the occasion being the YMI sponsored "Off-to-Fordham" dance, October 21.

Featuring a change in instrumentation and a balance of "hot" and moderate tunes, Kelly and his eleven-piece orchestra will play in Madigan gymnasium for the 300 expected couples from 9 to 1 o'clock.

Change in Instrumentation

The change in instrumentation finds five brass instruments, three rhythm, and three saxophones instead of the former three brasses, four rhythm instruments, and four saxophones, Kelly indicated.

A variety in dances, including Paul Jones, and other such features, are promised by the sophomore orchestra leader.

Plans To Be Laid

More definite plans for the dance will be made during the week by the dance committee appointed by President Ed Tracy of the local institute. Headed by Thomas Feeney, first vice-president of the YMI, the committee consists of Leo Englert, James Butler, and Joseph Butler.

Invitations will be sent out to all councils of the Young Men's Institute in the bay region.

Fifty cents per couple will be the admission charged for the dance.

Assistant Recorder Will Make Survey At USC and UCLA

In order to conduct an investigation for the Saint Mary's College Teachers association, Thomas Twomey, recording secretary of the organization, and assistant recorder of the college, will depart for the southern part of the state shortly.

Complete information regarding the graduate work for prospective teachers at the University of Southern California and the University of California at Los Angeles will be secured by the teachers' association executive.

A report on training facilities available for those seeking their secondary teaching certificates will also be made.

While in the south Twomey will visit several Los Angeles high schools, including Cathedral and Manual Arts high schools.

The trip is in keeping with the policy of the association to furnish as much aid as possible to Saint Mary's students considering teaching as a career, Twomey stated.

Los Angeles Police Warned To Be on Lookout for Characters from Moraga

Teletype dispatches from the city of the angels inform our reporters that the ever-diligent Los Angeles traffic squad will be out in their best blue shirts to take up surveillance over the highways from Bakersfield over the ridge route, for the Moraga Marauders will be infesting roads to the southward, rumor to the contrary notwithstanding.

Editor Al Quittman, Dick Hester, and several stolid seniors will barrel over the grapevine under the guidance of one of the Jones boys. Sports Editor Jim Brady will cover the game for the COLLEGIAN. With several Angelenos he has already made his getaway, but not in "Screamin' " Matthews' tank.

Not to be outdone by their contemporaries, the Brickpile staff, Paul Johnson and Charles Carroll, who have just purchased another sea-going hack, will test its vitals on the long tour.

Ernie Russo, yell leader, will bundle his assistants and others, it is rumored, into his open-faced Ford. He guarantees to be on hand to lead the gang on Sunday afternoon.

Most of the denizens of the southern metropolis plan to take advantage of Monday's holiday, and make a belated homecoming. Individual initiative, it is thought, will characterize their mode of transportation. A handful will take the train, and pay their way, as precautions were being taken, according to latest reports, to prevent stowaways from mooching a ride with the team.

Inexperienced but confident lower classmen have for the past week been flexing their thumbs to get in shape for the long hitch to Loyola. All the craft and guile of the ride beggars has been studiously rehearsed, block sweaters have been borrowed, shoes soled—and a small army is on the mark for the long race.

The special, carrying members of the Saint Mary's club, alumni, Gael rooters and, of course, the team, will leave the ferry building in San Francisco at 7:40 tonight.

The team and rooters from the Oakland side will board the cars at the First and Broadway station at 8:00 p.m. While in Los Angeles the Gaels will be quartered at the Biltmore hotel.

Freshmen Win Interclass Debate With Sophomores

Debating the topic "Resolved: That Hitler's foreign policy is justified," the frosh were victorious in their annual forensic encounter with the sophomores when the judges voted 2 to 1 in favor of the first-year men.

Horway Witteman, John Crosby, and Louis de Alva composed the freshman team, while William Egan, Leo Haggerty, and Lloyd Gallardo spoke for the sophomores.

Judges of the event were the Reverend Joseph I. Manning, Brother Alfred, and Thomas Twomey, assistant recorder.

The debate was the first of the year, preceding the opening of the intercollegiate competition scheduled for Tuesday night.

Seniors Slate Party At Roller Ring To Raise Funds

Looking with enthusiasm towards the coming traditional senior week events, members of the senior class are formulating plans to fill their treasury, according to George Carter, senior class president.

Arrangements are now being made, according to Carter, to sponsor a skating party in Oakland sometime in the near future. This event is being sponsored in order to swell the class treasury for the traditional senior ball and "senior week," Carter stated.

At the meeting of the class today, an extensive drive was planned to sell the remaining 20 of the 1938 Gaels, Carter said.

Arrangements were also made for the scheduling of transition talks by members of the college alumni association.

$102.59 in Bills Voted Paid

100 Per Cent ASSMC Enrollment Now Necessary for Funds

Minus $102.59 today is the ASSMC treasury!

Three distinct sums of money totaling $102.59 were voted to claimants at this week's regular session of the executice council, from which five members were absent.

Top sum of $62.59 was voted Gillick's printing company of Berkeley for payment of one Brickpile edition last semester and for stationery work done this fall. The ASSMC last semester agreed to pay the debt of the one Brickpile edition that failed to meet expenses to assure the continuance of the publication.

Ernest Russo, head yell-leader, requested a total of $40 for himself and his two assistants, LeRoy Sarment and David Cunningham, for the Loyola game in Los Angeles Sunday. Bill Bettencourt's motion granting the trio $35 was passed unanimously.

A bill of $5.00 for printing work by Robert Johnson was ordered paid.

Gives Report

There being no more claims for student money, Bettencourt presented the report of the student body card committee. After the report, his motion, in compliance with the committee's report, that the ASSMC this year refuse to vote any expenditure of funds to any organization failing to show a 100 per cent ASSMC enrollment was passed.

As a result, all organizations desiring to receive student funds this year

7 Present!

Only seven members of the student executive council, the minimum number necessary to hold a meeting, were present at this week's session of the council.

Members present were:

Senior class: Bill Bettencourt.

Junior class: Bill Fitzgerald, Bill Spehar, and Tom Feeney.

Freshman class: Horway Witteman.

Members absent were:

Senior class: Joseph Cone and Joseph Donnelly.

Freshman class: Bob Blair.

President John L. Sullivan urges all class presidents to demand the presence of their class representatives at all council meetings.

Many Warm Up For Valued Prize Essay Contest

Great enthusiasm is being shown toward the Oliver Essay contest this year, according to Brother Henry, faculty member in charge of the contest. More than 20 students already have signified their intentions of entering the contest.

Neither the date nor the theme of the contest has been selected yet, Brother Henry announced. The theme must be based on the general topic, "Catholocity and American Citizenship."

Three cash prizes totaling $150 are given each year from a fund created by Mr. Bartley P. Oliver, a member of the graduating class of 1873. Seventy-five dollars is given to the student writing the best essay in the opinion of the Oliver award committee.

Second prize is $50, and third prize, $25.

12 STUDENTS FORM CATHOLIC ACTION GROUP

First Friday Mass and Communion in the college chapel this morning served a two-fold purpose:

1. Dedication and blessing of the new statue of the Sacred Heart, donated by Mrs. Andrew Welch of Burlingame.
2. Dedication of twelve students to further the cause of Catholic Action by the formation of a Catholic Action society on this campus.

At an organization meeting held yesterday afternoon, twelve students, headed by President John L. Sullivan, answered Professor James L. Hagerty's call to organize for Catholic Action.

Meet Again Today

To elect officers and to organize on more definite lines, another meeting has been called for today at 12:20 p.m., President Sullivan announced.

All students interested are urged by Sullivan to attend today's meeting.

Mass and Communion this morning was offered by the group for the intention of Catholic Action.

"All who are confirmed are material for Catholic Action," Professor Hagerty told the group yesterday. "Confirmation makes Catholic soldiers of Christ. We want soldiers to rally to the cause now and unite into a great army."

SM Speakers Wanted

It is Professor Hagerty's hope that a strong Catholic Action organization will be formed on this campus, and that Saint Mary's men will speak the cause of Catholic Action at various parishes throughout the archdiocese of San Francisco.

"If Saint Mary's organizes now, Saint Mary's will lead the way for all collegians," said Professor Hagerty, a director of the archdiocese Catholic Action board.

A letter will be sent to Archbishop John J. Mitty, asking official permission to organize here. This is only a formality. After permission has been received, local members will receive indulgences for their work in Catholic Action.

Twelve Attend

Those who attended the initial meeting yesterday were:

Seniors—Bill Bettencourt, Joe Donnelly, Joe Crosby, Bill Kirkham, and Sullivan.

Sophomores—Lloyd Galardo, Leo Haggerty, Roger Heidenreich, Lionel Holmes, and Jim Murphy.

Freshmen—Thomas Coyne and Ray Henwood.

Mass this morning was celebrated by the Reverend Father Joseph I. Manning, student chaplain. The sermon was delivered by the Reverend Father Richard Howley, assistant director of

Literati Take In Thirteen Members

White-Robed Martyrs Win Honors After Gruelling Initiation

Culminating a two-day initiation with formal ceremonies on Tuesday evening, 13 new members were admitted to membership in the Alpha Phi Gamma Upsilon, campus honor society, according to President William Dooms.

Throughout the two-day initiation, the neophytes were required to learn certain passages of the organization's constitution and quote passages from Shakespeare upon request by club members. Also, the new candidates were required to write a 1000 word theme on some special topic.

New members who were admitted into the APGU were Algeo Brill, and George Carter, seniors; Peter Crowley, Walter Calcagno, Robert Egan, Joseph McGrath, Gordon Simon, Victor Martinelli, Harold Vogelsang, George Fernandez, John Cavanaugh, and John Stewart, sophomores.

Eligibility requirements for membership in the organization are participation in some extra-curricular activity, and the maintenance of the 2.0 or better grade point average for two or more consecutive semesters.

Attired in sheets, representing the togas of ancient Romans, and wearing laurel wreaths, the initiates furnished amusement for the student body over a two-day period.

First Gael Touchdown of Year

Mike Klotovich (39), fleet Moraga halfback, goes around California's left end to score standing up for the first Saint Mary's touchdown of the year. Other Gael back in the picture is Herb Smith (78). California players include Paul Semmens (38), DeVarona (68), Stoll (33) and Elmore (49).

Gael Gossip

by Jim Brady, Collegian Sports Editor

Los Angeles, October 7.—Well, here we are in the beautiful southland, and beautiful it is on this October day. The city of the angels is basking under a warm Indian summer sun, waiting for Sunday's gridiron titanic between the invaders from the north, the Galloping Gaels of Saint Mary's, and the Loyola Lions, home town favorites.

The Lions, with one of their best teams in recent years, confidently expect to upset the dope and beat the Moragans for the first time since athletic relations have been established, but the odds favor the lads from the Valley of the Giants.

Only one southern Californian will be in the Gaels' starting lineup day after tomorrow. That one is Ivan Pivaroff, who has the makings of a great end, and who is probably the only junior college transfer in recent years to make the Saint Mary's first team.

The reverse has been true in the past several seasons. Two years ago Madigan could have fielded an all-Los Angeles lineup.

That was the dream team, that woke up too soon. The present outfit is without doubt one of the finest ever to come out of the valley, potentially, with at least three who may make All-American.

Miss Long Rated Tops

Miss Mary Helen Long, resident nurse who came to Saint Mary's last year, is deserving of a vote of thanks from the members of the football team who come to her in a damaged condition. Miss Long rates high in the affections of the whole student body, but to the gridders she is in truth a Florence Nightingale.

Minor Sports, Please!

At the end of last year, it was promised to the student body that a minor sports program would be endorsed for this year, embracing swimming, boxing, golf, and tennis.

Also, it was promised that an intramural sports program would receive the full cooperation of the faculty.

The golf and tennis teams are self-sufficient, and can get along by themselves, but what about the boxing and swimming? And above all, what about the intramural sports?

The swimming team has organized a water polo team. The outfit was ready and eager to start practice a month ago, but no ball was forthcoming. Finally the ball arrived, and interest will have to be revived all over again, and practice started a month and a half behind other schools.

Boxing has been ignored from the start. Last year it was argued that the fall semester is the time for the pugilistic sport. Now that the fall semester is here and a boxing manager is trying manfully to get a team together, there is no interest on the part of the faculty, and no desire to provide the fighters with equipment. Other major colleges have these sports. Why can't this college have them?

And to top it all off, the softball tournament games have been forced to stop as early as the fourth and fifth innings because the Phoenix want to practice for the winter league. If the intramural games do not stop, the varsity goes ahead and has practice, thereby

Smitty Says Gaels Over Loyola Lions By Thirteen Points

Ace Grid Seer Also Likes Broncs, Indians, Huskies and Dons

By Smitty

Well, one consolation that we can fall back on for a much needed excuse is that the old batting average was fattened up a wee bit this week. Of course we are not yet perfect but four out of seven is a fair mark for a small country prognosticator.

Soon the old master is going to come through with a perfect score and then will youse guys be surprised!

Anyhow, men, where there's life there's soap so here are the winners for the coming weekend grid battles:

SAINT MARY'S vs. LOYOLA—Put your money on the Gaels again this week, fellows, and you will increase the size of the pocketbooks. They looked like a great outfit last week and showed mid-season form. Loyola is tough but the Gaels are tougher. Klotovich will burn up the Coliseum. Score 13-0.

SANTA CLARA vs. TEXAS A. & M.—It looks like the Broncs have the stuff it takes this year, even though I did them a grave injustice last week in the Stanford prediction, but they will have a much tougher time with the Texans than they did with the Card. Despite of this I will concede them a victory. Score 13-6.

CALIFORNIA vs. COP—CAL AG—Bears on the way to the Rose Bowl should not be hindered by these two opponents. Stub will use four or five teams and footballs will be flying all over the Memorial Stadium adding to present Cal victories. Two game triumph for the Golden Weenie. Scores 19-6, 13-0.

STANFORD vs. WASHINGTON STATE—Inclined to believe the Stanford backfield is superior and should account for a few tallies. The lines appear even but Paulman's kicking is Card's greatest asset, and should keep them out of the hole to allow offensive concentration. Score 7-3.

UCLA vs. WASHINGTON—Huskies should come through to defeat Bruins but anything may happen in this encounter. Ken Washington may give Washington trouble but we think no. Nevertheless DON'T BET ON THIS ONE. Score 13-7.

USF vs. SANTA BARBARA STATE—Dons will win with ease with Braga

Burns Hurls Two Hit Win For Juniors

Johnson Injured in Baseball Collision; Taken to Hospital

Behind the two-hit pitching of Fireball Eddie Burns, the juniors won their fourth straight intramural softball game, and the first of the second half by walloping the sophomores 3-0 Monday afternoon.

It was Burns' fifth victory of the season, counting a game he pitched for the Eire Oge.

Jorgen Johnson, second sacker for the sophs, received a deep cut in the forehead when he collided with Bob Smith, who was stealing second. Johnson was rushed to Oakland, where eight stitches were taken in his head.

The juniors drove across their only tallies in the first inning, and were held hitless from then on, when Ed Heffernan took the mound. Heffernan also got the only two hits for his team, punching out singles in the third and fifth.

Gaels Honored On Radio Program

Saint Mary's Galloping Gaels will receive a national salute over the airwaves when KPO broadcasts the Philip Morris program on Tuesday, October 11, at 8:30.

Featured on the program will be a new arrangement of the Gael Alma Mater song. Other numbers include music in the Morgan manner by Russ Morgan, vocal varieties by Frances Adair, Glenn Cross and the Swing Fourteen, and an interesting dramatic sketch under the direction of Jack Johnstone.

Sophs Lose Another

With Colonel Bill Bloodgood pitching under wraps, the senior softball team walloped the sophomores.

The losers were hampered by the absence of their two star hurlers, Ed Heffernan, and Bud Smith, but strove valiantly to stem the tide of base hits that almost overwhelmed them at times.

Murray Brannen started the contest and lasted for five innings, when he was replaced by Charley Sill, who finished up.

Swede Johnson, injured in the head the day before, played the entire game, his face a mass of bandages.

Galloping Gaels Invade Southland For Annual Game With Loyola Lions Sunday at Memorial Stadium

50,000 Expected to Watch Annual Battle of Rival Elevens; Madigan's Marauders on Long End of Betting

Underway, with one victory to their credit, the Galloping Gaels make their annual invasion of the beautiful southland when they meet Tom Lieb's Loyola Lions on Sunday in the Los Angeles Coliseum before an expected crowd of 50,000.

In top mental and physical shape after a temporary letdown, the Gallopers will seek to continue their winning streak over the Lions whom they defeated last year 13-7 in a thrill-packed battle. Loyola will be out for its first victory over the Moragans, but the odds favor the latter.

Lions Mystery Quantity

Vague rumors and news drifting up from the south state that Lieb has his best material in a number of years, but the Lions remain somewhat of a mysterious quantity.

To date they boast victories over California Tech, 52 to 0, and College of the Pacific, 7 to 0, but they were unable to score on the Pacific eleven until the third quarter which may, or may not, be indicative of their strength.

What is known about them shows that they have the stuff to put up another stiff battle, and may possibly upset the Gaels.

Polich Outstanding

In John Polich, end, the Lions have a potential All-American. A two-year veteran, Polich is rated by Gael Coach Red Strader as the "best pass-catching end I've seen for a long time," which is high praise indeed. Besides his pass snagging ability, Polich is a sturdy defensive man who gives ground grudgingly.

Returning to the backfield is Jack Lyons, the halfback who almost beat the Gaels last year and caused them many uneasy moments with his long passes. Lyons is an exceptional passer, and has been known to complete 70-yard passes in practice. He also takes care of the punting for the southerners.

Gaels to Be Tested

Tte Gaels' pass deefnse will be tested to the utmost by this sparkling pass combination, which might easily prove to be the Gaels' downfall.

Aside from Lyons, the Loyola backfield consists of Jim Elcy, quarterback, a good blocker and smart field general; Sam Colton, right half; and John Colee, a hard plunging fullback.

The most vulnerable spot in the Loyola line will be the tackle posts, where the Lions are weakened by graduation, and must depend on inexperienced men. Bill Peterlin will hold down the right tackle berth, while Bob Link and Bob Hayes are fighting for the regular assignment at left tackle.

The other spots are filled by veterans and sophomores who promise to give the Moragans all the football they want.

The Gaels' lineup will consist of the usual first string that has starred in the last two games. The only disputed posi-

Gaels Ease Up; Beat Zags 20-0 On Muddy Field

Klotovich Again Star Of Moraga Offense; May Get All-Coast

By acclamation of 20,000 spectators, Mike Klotovich, flashy backfield ace from San Francisco, who reached football fame by way of Mission high school, stood out Sunday as the greatest player in the sophomore class of Pacific coast gridders.

Klotovich took the laurels reserved in advance for Tony Canadeo, Gonzaga's soph star, because Canadeo could not go places with the great Saint Mary's line in front of him.

By Klotovich's passing, kicking, and running, Coach Slip Madigan's Galloping Gaels from the "white city" in the Moraga valley shellacked Gonzaga's eleven 20 to 0, in Kezar stadium.

Canadeo gave flashes of his true form, but because of lack of blocking by his team mates, he was held at a standstill.

Without Canadeo at his best, the Bulldogs crumbled in the second half before the alert play of the Gaels who at the finish proved to be the best "inexperienced" eleven on the coast.

The first score came in the closing minutes of the third quarter. With the help of Dick Mesak, Klotovich hit right guard for one yard and a touchdown. Mike Perrie missed the try for point by booting wide to the right.

Another big bomber for the Gaels was Ed Heffernan, who raced over from the six-yard line to score the second touchdown. Perrie added the extra point by placement.

The final score was an easy one. With the pigskin on Gonzaga's 44, Klotovich threw a short pass to Lou Rimassa, who went down the south sidelines without a hand laid on him. Andy Marefos kicked the seventh point.

The closest the Bulldogs got to the Gaels' "promised land" was the 15-yard line, but the Gonzaga eleven couldn't progress any farther.

Saint Mary's netted 176 yards from scrimmage while Gonzaga had 79.

Latuda Beats Pool Champion

Alexander (Bud) Latuda, last year defeated by Dick Hester in the pool tourney finals, last week reversed the decision in a non-title match, 2-1.

Latuda thereby served notice that he will again enter the tournament next semester, to win the title for the junior class, of which he is a member.

Long Delayed Water Polo Practice Gets Under Way

Water polo practice, delayed almost a month by the failure of the ball to arrive, got under way last week at the college plunge.

Al Speckens, swimming manager, had scheduled a game with the California freshman team, but deemed it advisable to postpone the encounter until the aquatic Gaels have had a chance to brush up on their technique.

It is the purpose of Speckens to schedule only a few games this year, and build for next year, when the team will enter varsity competition.

Dooley Announces Grid Tournament

George Dooley, intramural sports manager, announced Tuesday that the touch football tourney will follow upon the heels of the softball meet, now nearing completion.

The complete schedule will be announced in next week's Collegian.

Eire Oge Issues Blanket Challenge

Athletic Managers Of Irish Teams Defy Campus Orgs

Eire Oge athletic managers Joe Hurley, Jorgen Johnson, and Leo Haggerty yesterday issued challenges to all campus organizations, including the APGU, Dante club, German club, Economics society, Law club, and others to meet the Irish athletes in the sports which they manage.

Hurley represents softball, and is also vice-president of the club. Johnson heads the soccer team, while Haggerty manages basketball.

Only one team has seen action this semester, when the softball team won from the Dante club.

Herb Smith, leader of the famed Gaelic football forces, is withholding all challenges until next semester, when the coveted Adolph Uhl trophy will be defended. Smith predicts that his lads will again emerge undefeated, for the second straight year. The Gaelic team is the only one of the Eire Oge units to meet outside competition.

Joe McCarthy, president of the Law club and veteran member of the Eire Oge, announced this morning that he has been appointed to head a pool team of three members.

SHADOWING the GAELS

By TOM FEENEY · Assistant Sports Editar

Sometime ago, Ned Cronin, sports writer for the Los Angeles Evening News commented in his column that the reason for the break in the Oregon-Saint Mary's football relationship was that the Gaels played an unusually hard game. As if to say, in other words, that the Madiganmen used unfair tactics.

An ardent Gael supporter told him off in no uncertain words and stated:

"Don't be surprised if the Gaels face the Webfeet this year, and certainly they'll play in 1939."

It's news to me and many others, but it's TRUE!

Slip and Tex Oliver, Oregon coach, have been conversing in an attempt to arrange a game at the end of November or early in December, but no definite plans or agreement has been made.

Slip still has not lost sight of a post-season contest and at present Oregon is quite a formidable opponent, having just recently defeated the highly-touted UCLA Bruins.

Incidentally, it might be well to quote Prink Callison, Oregon coach when the Gaels and Webfeet last met. Referring to a remark cast at Saint Mary's playing he said:

"Saint Mary's is one of finest elevens in the country and remarks against their type of football are false statements and gross errors. No club plays cleaner nor harder."

Linemen in the News

Oft-mentioned in the newspapers are the backfield men who have their every move printed during the football season.

But whereas the backs might be over-publicized—the opposite holds true of the linemen. Leaving a stadium after a game, it is usually the shifty halfback or the plunging fullback who receives the merit, while the linemen—well, they played only because 11 men were needed. The backs after the game usually get the beautiful girls (?) —while the linemen return home to bathe their wounds in liniment.

The intention of this article isn't to deify the linemen—but too much credit cannot be given them. They, undoubtedly, take the beating and most of the time their playing goes unnoticed.

Many linemen are exceedingly proficient in one thing and the Gael linemen listed below are exceptional in the following departments:

Boxing a tackle (Lavine Bettencourt, end (.
Piling up the interference (Nick Katzmeyer, tackle) .
Blocking, particularly downfield (Dick Mesak, guard) .
End around (Ivan Pivaroff, end)
Catching passes (Joe Aguirre, end) .
Blocking kicks (George Cantwell, tackle) .
Rushing passers (Ralph Jack, guard) .
Intercepting passes (Milo Millicivich, center) .
Defensive charge (Tony Lucas, guard) .
Punting (Jerry Dowd, center) .

Frosh Grid Team Takes Shape

Day by day, as the freshmen football practice continues, the squad is taking better shape. Recovering from an epidemic of injuries the team is preparing for its first game with the San Francisco Boys' club, Sunday.

The first team ought to look something like this:
Dennison and Reginato or Engle, ends.
Ward and Seminoff or Charters, tackles.
Castagnolia and Flannery or Mackin, guards.
Carpenter or Shiefe, center.
Arabian, quarter.
Fiese and Lankas, halves.
Keyer, fullback.

Broncs to the Front, Again!

It appears very much like this year's Bronco team is continuing the two-year precedent of going places. Above everything else last Saturday, credit must be paid to the excellent field-generalship of the quarterback, and particularly a nod must be handed Buck Shaw for a versatile well-coached team. The Broncs looked in mid-season form as against an unsettled, uncertain Indian eleven. Despite the Missionites' showing, don't count the Gaels out!

The HAWK'S Corner

BY TONY FALKENSTEIN

Slip starts his second team against the weak Gonzaga Bulldogs and runs roughshod over them to the tune of 20-0.

What would he have done to the California Bears had he used his substitutes?

Gael fans wonder what has happened to such men as:

Wally Garard, who two years ago outplayed All US Bob Herwig and who was acclaimed the best center and defensive fullback on the coast. This year he has seen little or no action at his old position. He is a great center but has not been given a chance to come into his own.

Tony Lucas, who last year was rated by Slip Madigan himself as the best guard prospect on the squad, but who is now not even good enough to get into the lineup against the weak Gonzaga team for more than three minutes.

Bob Brusatti, who played 60 minutes against Fordham last year. Brusatti has not seen one minute of action this year. He was chosen on the Fordham all-opponent team, so this boy must have something on the ball, because Fordham is a tough club and doesn't hand out undeserved compliments.

Jackie Sims, who quit baseball for the gridiron, and who is one of the best, if not the best, punter on the squad, and also a good all-around player.

"Screamin' " Jim Matthews, as tough a ballplayer as has ever hit Saint Mary's. Matty is a hard worker on the practice field, but has never been given a chance in a tough game. He will come into his own if opportunity comes his way.

There are others such as Pete Sedar, Bob Hartnyk, a beautiful end, Milo Milicevich, and others who will be mentioned later.

I have heard many complaints that Ed Heffernan never has a chance to perform the first string line. We all know that the linemen make or break a backfield man, and this boy Heffernan is deserving of the chance. He is a true football player and loves the tough going.

It is and has always been my opinion that a fair fresh player is better than a tired good man, so why not use some of the above? However, that is merely my opinion, backed up by eight years' high school and college experience on the gridiron.

Moragans Again Choice of Campus

By Jack Crampton

WALLY GARARD:
"Loyola is a tough ball club, but the Gaels are much tougher and should win by a comfortable margin of two touchdowns."

MILO MILICEVICH:
"The Gaels will win 20 to 0 if it doesn't rain."

PETE SEDAR:
"The Gaels are on their way to a successful season and Loyola won't be able to stop them."

FRANK 'DOC' O'ROURKE
"The Gaels will score the first four touchdowns."

GLEN SINOTT:
"From my position in the stands I still prefer the California Co-eds.

AL LINGUA:
"I cannot let home town prejudice enter into my opinion, therefore I concede the game to the Gaels by 14 points."

FRANK MADEROS:
"Saint Mary's will win 26 to 7."

BOB FERRIER:
"Saint Mary's ought to win by at least 20 points."

JOE AGUIRRE:
"It looks like another one in the win column for the Gaels; but they'll know they have been in a ball game.

BOB HARTNYK:
"The Gaels should come through in this one but it ought to be a good game."

BOB BRUSATI:
"The Gaels have proven themselves beyond doubt and should come through with another win over Loyola."

LAVINE BETTENCOURT:
"Loyola will be tough but we will take them."

Gael Opponents Still Undefeated

Broncs Rate Top In Coast Ratings USF Guns for Gaels

Each remaining opponent on the 1938 Saint Mary's grid schedule remained undefeated during the last week end of football wars. USF, Santa Clara, Fordham and Loyola were not allowed a single point to be scored against them, indicating that the Gaels will meet strong defensive teams in their future contests.

LOYOLA: Displaying a worthwhile passing attack, Tom Leib's Lions nosed out the College of Pacific eleven to score a 7 to 0 win. A twenty yard pass put the ball in scoring position on the Tigers eleven yard line. In four plays the Lions powerhoused the remaining distance for the only score of the game. The L.A. squad suffered a let down after their 51 to 0 victory over Cal Poly last week. They have been unscored on this season.

USF: For the first time in three games the Dons were unable to cross their opponents pay-off stripe, but showing their own defensive strength, successfully defended their own goal. USF, however, dominated the play and rolled up 146 yards from scrimmage to the Grizzlie's 48. Obviously tired after two previous wins on the gridiron, the Dons did not display their previous brand of football.

SANTA CLARA: Earning praise from all sport authorities, the Broncos trounced a sloppy Stanford team 22 to 0 last Saturday. The valley squad looked exceptionally well in their first 1938 encounter and served notice that they are the team to beat on the Gael schedule. The final score is not a true representation of the Bronco superiority over the Indians.

FORDHAM: Starting off their season with a breather, the Rams smothered Upsala College by piling up a total of 47 points while holding the victims to no score and a few yards from scrimmage.

and Mosconi having a field day. The Hilltop charges are superior in all stages of the game and results will take care of themselves. Score 19-0.

PITTSBURG vs. DUQUESNE—Pitt will trample over this opponent without even getting up a sweat. Game should resemble a track meet unless the boys take it easy. Score 20-0.

FORDHAM vs. WAYNESBURG—Crowley's men will tack up their second win Saturday. Rams too much for Waynesburg. Should have no trouble in running up a high score. Fordham may be scored upon. Score 35-6.

Joe Marty, Former Gael Outfielder, Is Series Star

Cub Center Fielder Gets Three for Four In Second Game

Among the many Pacific coast baseball players participating in the world series between the New York Yankees and the Chicago Cubs is Joe Marty, Cub center fielder, who played the outfield for the Saint Mary's frosh several years ago.

Marty, who hit three for four yesterday as the Cubs lost their second consecutive game to the powerful Yankees, left Saint Mary's at the end of his freshman year to play professional ball. His three hits yesterday drove in all of the Chicago runs.

The big league outfielder was signed by the San Francisco Seals when he left here and developed into one of the Pacific Coast league's leading hitters, filling the spot in the Seal lineup left vacant by the sale of Joe DiMaggio.

Other players well known in this area participating in the series are Stan Hack, Frank Demaree, Larry French, Vance Page, and Tony Lazzeri of the Cubs.

Playing for the Yankees are Frank Crosetti, Joe DiMaggio, Joe Gordon, Myril Hoag, Monty Pearson, Lefty Gomez, and Spurgeon Chandler.

Crosetti and DiMaggio, San Francisco boys, hit home runs in yesterday's game to bring about the Yankee victory. Crosetti's four-base wallop put the Yankees ahead in the eighth inning after they had been trailing most of the game. There was one man on at the time.

Ahead by one run, DiMaggio put the game on ice for the Yanks in the ninth with the longest home run of the series to date. George Selkirk, New York right fielder, scored ahead of the North Beach slugger.

Gomez, another San Francisco boy, pitched the victory, and maintained his record of never having lost a world series game. With the victory yesterday he tied the record for the number of consecutive world series games won by any pitcher.

tion is right guard, where Vic Martinelli has been promoted to the regulars, and Ralph Jack has been dropped to the second string line.

Mike Klotovich, in top shape again, will lead the Gallopers in quest of their second seasonal victory. The standout sophomore back on the coast, Klotovich is expected to star with his open-field running, his bullet passes, and his punting.

Mike Perrie, Herb Smith, and Lou Rimassa will complete the backfield unit, while Lavine Bettencourt, Ivan Pivaroff, Nick Katzmeyer, George Cantwell, Dick Mesak, and Jerry Dowd compose the strong forward wall.

MAY START SECOND STRING

Coach Slip Madigan may start his second team again as he did in the Gonzaga tilt, and if he does, it will line up with Jack Crampton and Frank Maderas at ends; Wally Garard and Dick Jones at tackles, Ray Ruddell and Ralph Jack or Martinelli at the guard posts, Milo Millicivich at center, Jack Guthrie at quarterback, Ed Heffernan at left half, Donte Magnani at right half, and Andy Marefos at fullback.

A general exodus of fans and students has taken place, and the Gaels will receive a lot of moral support when they face the Lions.

Freshmen Play SF Boys' Club Here Sunday

Ward Breaks Foot In Practice; Out for Balance of Year

Opening their official football season, the Saint Mary's freshman team will meet the San Francisco Boys' club Sunday at 2:15 on the Moraga campus.

The Boys' club has sustained one defeat already this season, at the hands of Marin junior college, but has improved since and the game is likely to be hard fought. The Gaelets are favored at this time to win by one touchdown, off their performance against Berkeley high in a warmup game.

Al Ward, first string tackle, broke his left foot in practice, and will be out for the balance of the season.

The only other major casualties are George Arabian and Joe Trankala, both halfbacks, who may see action Sunday.

Now, in the winter league, games are played only on Sunday. And in the intramural tourney, games are played only on Tuesday and Thursday. Sensational Cases Wanted by Pre-Legal Club

Budding Lawyers Seek To Establish Law Library on Campus

With trips planned to the Alameda County Court House and to the Court House in San Francisco, the Pre-legal club is getting up steam for the fall semester. As soon as there are some interesting cases on the dockets and it can be arranged for the club to get leave from school, the trips will be made. The purpose of these excursions is to give the law students some first hand information on legal procedure.

Law Library

Also under consideration is the formation of a law library here on the campus. Joe McCarthy, president of the association, announced recently that letters had been written to law schools and legal societies throughout the country asking for information and copies of publications.

As yet, no site has been chosen for the library. On being questioned as to the feasibility of taking over space in the Economics library, McCarthy said that there was no possibility of getting in there; and also that they wanted to have a room of their own. "This is one of the principal problems which remains to be threshed out between the club and the faculty," he said.

New Members

From the ranks of the freshman class the society is obtaining many new members. Also, sometime in the future, the club is going to try and produce some sort of a play based on the legal profession.

Delegate Will Go To Scholarship Confab in South

As the result of an invitation received this week from George R. Tracy, secretary of the California Scholarship Federation, Saint Mary's College will send a delegate to the annual convention of the advisers of the California Scholarship Federation to be held at the San Carlos Hotel, Monterey, on October 15.

Questions relating to high school and college correlations, with particular emphasis on problems concerning members of the Scholarship Federation, will be discussed.

Last year Saint Mary's College played host to the members of the Scholarship Federation in their annual meeting.

Band, 110 Strong Entrains for Lion-Gael Game

The big event of the Saint Mary's band year, the annual trip to Los Angeles for the game with the Loyola Lions, will find approximately eighty members of the musical organization making the trip, according to an announcement made late this week by the board of athleticc ontrol.

Again, as in past years, the band will join forces with the Loyola organization to produce another colorful halftime show. The Loyola musicians, with the Gael organization, constitute two of the most modern collegiate bands in the west, according to Joseph McTigue, band leader.

The band will make the trip aboard the special train that will carry the team and many rooters to the southern California city. Departure time will be about 7 o'clock Friday night, arriving in Los Angeles Saturday morning.

The return trip will be made Sunday night, with the special arriving in Oakland early Monday morning.

Receipt of two flags used for the first time at the California game, a gift of the Saint Mary's club, was announced by McTigue. Composing the committee who selected the flags were Thomas Deasy, Al Quinn, and R. Murray.

must see that every one of its members has a student body card.

"This is a proper move," Chairman Bill Glackin announced to the student legislators.

President John L. Sullivan and Joseph Hurley, Block SM president, will meet with Professor Louis LeFevre of the board of athletic control to determine whether or not athletes should be forced to purchase cards in order to exercise the ASSMC privilege of purchasing two preferred California game tickets and four preferred Santa Clara ducats.

Another motion by the only senior representative present, Bettencourt, was passed. The motion requested Russo to hold an "Off to Fordham" rally at the Oakland train station when the Galloping Gaels depart to New York for the Fordham game.

The team and party is expected to leave Oakland at 2:30 p.m., Tuesday, October 25.

The rally probably will start at 1:45 p.m. and is expected to be one of the greatest "Off to Fordham" rallies since the first Saint Mary's trek to Gotham. Russo's assistants, Cunningham and Sarment, and the rally committee will promote the rally, and the executive council will cooperate.

MacPhail Resigns

Norman MacPhail, recently appointed official timekeeper of the ASSMC at all football games, representing the students as a whole on the varsity committee, resigned his post because of outside employment on Sundays, he said.

A motion requesting the Block SM society appoint a man to fill the vacancy was passed. As in the case of MacPhail, the appointee will represent both the Block SM and the associated students.

Tom Feeney motioned that a pocket sum of $10 be given the student body president to use whenever necessary. The motion passed.

Plan Supper-Dance

President Sullivan announced that plans nearly were completed for a supper-dance to be held in the student dining room with the collegienes of Holy Names college the latter part of this month. Further details will be announced at next week's meeting of the council. One of the restrictions is expected to be that only ASSMC members (students with s.b. cards) will be allowed.

Secretary Bill Kirkham announced that no replies had been received yet from any of the three major broadcasting companies in regards to the play-by-play report of the Saint Mary's-Fordham game on November 5.

Kirkham earlier in the semester, at the request of the council, wrote to the three major companies, requesting that steps be taken to give Pacific coast fans a direct broadcast of the game from the Polo grounds.

Rhodes Scholarship Qualifications Stated Here

According to the will of Cecil John Rhodes, 32 scholarships, tenable at the University of Oxford, are assigned annually to the United States. Each appointment is made for two years in the first instance, with a possible third year for those whose record at Oxford and plan of study makes such an award advisable.

All Saint Mary's students are eligible for consideration in the awarding of scholarships providing that they fulfill the following requirements:

1. Be a male citizen of the United States and unmarried. 2. Be between the ages of 19 and 25 on October 1, 1939. 3. Have completed at least the sophomore year by the time of application.

Literary and scholastic ability, qualities of manhood, truth and courage, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindliness, unselfishness and fellowship, exhibition of moral force of character, are some of the qualities that must be found in the applicant, according to the will of Rhodes.

Some definite quality of distinction, whether in intellect, character, or personality, or in any combination of them, is the most important requirement for a Rhodes scholarship. Financial need does not constitute a special claim for consideration.

Applications must be in the hands of the secretary of the state committee not later than November 5, 1938. Selections will be made by state committees on December 13 and 15, and by district committees on December 17.

Scholars elected in this competition will enter the University of Oxford in October, 1939. Information locally can be secured from the office of the recorder.

Da Silva, and District Deputy A. Wendering.

Road to Campus Under Repair By County

Work on the resurfacing of the highway from Moraga to Saint Mary's will be completed soon, it was announced this week.

Labor and material on the project will cost Contra Costa county more than $10,000, it was reported.

While work is in progress, students are advised to drive their cars carefully as loose gravel may cause a serious accident.

Repair Work on Path Eliminates Puddle Jumping

Seniors will no longer be inconvenienced by the mud hole which regularly appears in front of their bench during wet weather.

The pathway which passes near the bench is being repaved by the resident students under the direction of Mr. Hamilton, the head gardener.

After being leveled the walk will be covered by gravel which will be mixed with oil several times. The work is being done on the same plan as the work on the Moraga highway. A new road material, which gives a hard smooth finish to the highway, is being used.

Third Crash For Staff Man Sets Record

Reporter Messes Up Own Crate With Usual Luck; Unhurt

After marking up his third auto accident in two weeks, Carl Nelson, freshman COLLEGIAN reporter, returned to college Wednesday morning unscratched.

The entire front of his car, however, was bashed in when his car ran into the back of another auto which, according to witnesses, had stopped too quickly.

Reports show that if Nelson's brakes had not been good, someone might have been hurt badly. As it was John Epperson, COLLEGIAN advertising agent, displayed a cut over his right eye as a result of the accident.

In the other two accidents Nelson was just a passenger. The first occured after the California-Saint Mary's game when the car in which he was riding was hit by another car.

The other accident occured last week when the COLLEGIAN car turned over on the Moraga highway.

No one was hurt in either accident.

Sullivan, Russo To Be Guests In San Leandro

Invitations to be special guests of honor at the "Leandran Football Frolic" in San Leandro on the night of Saturday, October 15, were received and accepted this week by President John L. Sullivan and Head Yell Leader Ernest Russo.

The frolic is being sponsored by the Leandran club, a young men's and young women's organization of Saint Leander's Catholic church.

Miss Jean Ronch, co-chairman of the invitational affair, invited the two ASSMC leaders.

All Saint Mary's students are invited to dance with the Leandrans at the Plaza ballroom in downtown San Leandro on the eve of the Portland game. Tickets may be purchased from Bill Bettencourt, a club member.

charities in the San Francisco archdiocese.

Breakfast Served

Following Mass, breakfast in the college dining room was served for the entire student body.

After Catholic Action has been organized here, Saint Mary's will take steps to encourage the development of similar organizations at Santa Clara, the University of San Francisco, Holy Names, Dominican, San Francisco College for Women, and at secular colleges by the respective Newman clubs.

Senior Sketches

By Roger Heidenreich

Permit us to present John Williams, scholar, athlete, and club member extraordinary of Saint Mary's college. He hails from Oakland, is twenty years old, stands five feet nine, brown hair and blue-green eyes. A well-built, good-looking specimen of the student body. John boasts that as a scholar he maintains a 2.6 average and that he has never been graded C in any course.

Athlete

It is perhaps significant that being a good student, he should also excel in athletics. John has participated in nearly every form of athletics that we have here on the campus with the possible exception of swimming and tennis. In the intramural track meet, he has walked away with first place in the mile and half mile. Williams also can play a fair game of football, baseball, and basketball. He is a good boxer and in the past has participated in the boxing matches as well as seeing to their management.

Clubs

Many of the active clubs on the campus claim John for a member. Among these are the Dramatic society, Eire Oge, the APGU, and the International Relations club. He is also a member of the debating team.

Williams is majoring in English and when he graduates would like to get into something along the lines of literature or dramatics. In the past he has been advertising manager of the COLLEGIAN and was president of the class in his junior year.

A Little Dirt

When we went out to get the dirt on Jack, his friends (?) as one man rallied around to tell all. When we had all we figured we could use, we contacted Williams for his opinions, on the nuggets we had unearthed. With regard to "bending the elbow" he informed us that he believed "a man should relax every couple of weeks. Sometimes twice a week or three times a week; but my motto has always been 'nothing in excess'." In some quarters John is regarded as a wolf. He openly admitted that he has a trap-line which extends from San Francisco to Los Angeles. "But," he said, "I only go for a girl with intellectual beauty." Seeing the glint in our eye, he hastily added, "But she must be plenty good looking." He probably does know some "queens" —but then, who doesn't?

He has also contributed poems to the Brickpile at various times.

Juniors Debating Location, Band For Bronco Dance

Four Orchestras Now Being Considered By Fourth Year Men

Decision as to the place were the Gael Bronc post-game dance will take place will be made at a junior class meeting to be held next week, according to August Gaspar, president of the class.

Under consideration at the present are the Colonial Room of the Hotel Saint Francis, the Gold Room and the Palm Court of the Palace and the Gold Room of the Fairmont. Members of the committee refused to hazard a guess as to which of the hostelries would get the dance.

Four Maestros

The committee heading the arrangement for the dance will have four popular orchestras from which to choose Nick Morrisey, Jimmy Howard, Frank Wells, and Jack Kelly are all being considered. Bids will be one dollar and twenty-five, but this price is subject to the approval of the social committee. As soon as an OK is put on the price, the bids will go on sale. This will probably be within the next two weeks.

Raffle Slated

Next week, the class of '40 will sponsor a raffle and the prizes will be two pair of tickets to the Gael Bronco grid-fest in November. As usual, a pair of tickets will be awarded to the student who sells the largest quantity of chances. Chances may be bought from any of the officers of the junior class at ten cents per.

Red Cross Asks Aid Of College Students

Annual Roll Call To Be Held From November 11 to 24

Red Cross influence in the life of the average college student is brought to the attention of Saint Mary's men by the announcement of the forthcoming annual roll call which will be held from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving.

Followers of all sports, and especially those which take their devotees away from centers of population such as skiing, mountaineering, hiking and camping have found first aid invaluable in making their pleasure safer.

Students of forestry, engineering and other industrial subjects have recognized that a knowledge of first aid is almost indispensable to the efficient performance of their tasks in later life.

Life Saving

In another field, that of life saving, and general water safety, the Red Cros is playing an important part. National headquarters and chapters in centers where educational institutions are located cooperate with those institutions having swimming facilities by providing instruction in the latest methods of saving persons in danger of drowning and reviving those apparently drowned.

Not only does this instruction add materially to the enjoyment of water sports and recreation but many college students have been able to qualify as life guards at summer and other bathing resorts as a result of their Red Cross training. Others receive appointments as camp counsellors and swimming instructors.

Opportunity to Serve

The Red Cross offers further opportunities to serve. In times of great national disasters such as the Ohio-Mississippi Valley flood of 1937, the ranks of the volunteer workers are swelled by representatives of American colleges and universities. Through the Red Cross reserve lists of nutritionists and nurses, qualified college graduates are afforded an opportunity to serve with the country's forces of defense in times of national emergency.

The activities and services which the Red Cross provides are made possible by its continued existence as a forceful entity, interested in promoting human welfare. It accomplishes its aims by direct action such as disaster relief, or by indirect action such as instruction in the various subjects designed to promote safer every day existence.

The generosity of the American college student in both physical and financial support of the Red Cross in the past has been of great assistance. During the forthcoming roll call the Red Cross again appeals to the college and university students to express their faith and confidence in the organization which since 1881 has been a friend to the friendless, has brought a home to the homeless, that has fed the starving and has brought aid and comfort to countless millions of our people.

Eddie Gets a Son--But He's an In-Law!

Millions of radio listeners have heard comedian Eddie Cantor kid and be kidded about his five daughters. However, Dan Cupid brought Cantor a son, even if the stork did go on strike and refuse to deliver any male children to the Cantor household. The prize package which Cantor received was James McHugh, former Saint Mary's student, who, had he completed his education, would have graduated with the present senior class. McHugh was married recently to Edna Cantor in Los Angeles. While at Saint Mary's, McHugh was associate editor of the Brickpile and a member of the now defunct radio commission. Pictured above are the happy couple shortly after applying for their marriage license.

Publication Date Of Brickpile Set For Mid-October

Publication date of the October issue of the Brickpile has been set tentatively for the 14th of October, Paul Johnson, editor of the student magazine, announced this week.

A plea for writers was made by the magazine editor, who pointed out that there were several vacancies on the editorial and business ends of the staff. Contributions will be accepted from any student, the editor said.

Complete financial and circulation returns are not yet available for the first issue of the Brickpile which appeared on the campus last week, according to a statement made by Johnson.

Vincentians Open Catechism Classes In County Towns

Furthering the progress of the teaching end of the Saint Vincent de Paul society, catechism classes are now being conducted in Lafayette, with expectations of opening a class in Walnut Creek in the near future, it was indicated this week by Frank Soares, president of the campus organization.

Supplementing the classes already established in Moraga and Canyon, the Lafayette class is being taught by John Franey, William Fitzgerald, and Philip Kearney. Teachers for the Walnut Creek class have not been selected yet.

In connection with the catechism program of the De Paulians, student teachers are being advised each week by Brother Alfred, moderator of the society, in methods of instruction.

William Miller was appointed to fill the vacancy created when Henry Nuetzel resigned from the position of treasurer.

Italian Operas Will Be Heard by Local Dante Club

In anticipation of the coming opera season in San Francisco, members of the Dante club formulating preliminary plans to attend various Italian operas this season, according to Walter Calcagno, president.

Last year members of the local Italian society attended many operas, and according to Calcagno, this program will once more be carried out this year.

The Dante club basketball team will make its initial appearance next week, when a tentative game has been scheduled with the USF Maraschi Club quintet, according to Dante Magnani, athletic director of the Dante club.

Diamond Marred By Mysterious Midnight Visitors

Damage to the varsity baseball diamond has taken place during the nightly forays made by a small herd of cows, evidently belonging to someone within the vicinity of the college.

This has been evidenced by the deep tracks they have left in the soft turf.

Anyone seeing them at their nocturnal rascality would be doing both Saint Mary's and Mr. Hamilton a great favor by driving them onto the tennis courts where they would remain till the owner reimburses the baseball club for the damage done.

HIGHLIGHTS of SCIENCE

By Boyd Judd

Chemists attending a recent meeting of the American Chemical Society in Milwaukee were almost unanimous in declaring that Germany is not in any condition technologically to fight a war.

Dr. Harrison E. Howe, editor of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry: "While Germany has done some remarkable things in science and technology during its four-year plan, the results to date do not supply an adequate foundation to support such a bluff."

Dr. Charles A. Kraus, of Brown University, president-elect of the American Chemical Society: "I doubt if any nation in the world is self-sufficient in all materials vital for fighting a long war. Germany is one of the nations seriously lacking in many essential materials."

There was general agreement that petroleum is Germany's greatest lack. Information shows that hydrogenation of coal into oil is not sufficient to supply war needs of transport. A few months of fighting would exhaust oil supplies.

Dr. Foster D. Snell, Brooklyn, consulting chemist: "Germany would start a war with one strike against her. A nation ordinarily starts a war with its people physically at normal. There is a serious question whether Germany is at present in this condition or whether its population may not already be showing the effects of past diet changes."

Moreover, Germany lacks tungsten and molybdenum, metals essential in making steel for her war machine. Its source of these metals is Sweden. Aside from the matter of foreign exchange for paying for imports, a rising feeling against the Nazi philosophy in Sweden may hamper obtaining these needed metals.

Hence, Hitler's boast of self-sufficiency seems to be wholly contrary to the findings of science.

Campus Chapter Of YMI Holds Initial Meeting

Committees Named For Fordham Dance; Membership Drive

With grand officers and a visiting drill team present to mark the occasion, the Saint Mary's college council of the Young Men's Institute inaugurated a program of activity at their initial meeting Thursday, September 29.

October 21 was announced as the date of an "Off-to-Fordham" dance, and a committee headed by Thomas Feeney, first vice-president, was appointed to promote the affair. Named by President Edward Tracy to assist Feeney were Leo Englert, James Butler, and Joseph Crosby.

Drive for New Members

In a concerted drive to obtain new members of the organization, Tracy also appointed Feeney to head a membership committee consisting of Lloyd Gallardo and Lionel Holmes, both members of the council's executive committee.

Upon a suggestion by the Reverend Albert T. Duffy, chaplain, it was agreed that the local YMI attend Mass in a body once a month on the Thursday before the first Friday.

Joseph Cone, second vice-president, was appointed to head a committee to assure student representation at the Feast of Christ the King to be held in San Francisco in November.

Local Representation

It was also suggested at the meeting that the local council encourage students to attend the Sullivan oratorical contest November 22, sponsored by the Ignatian council No. 35 of the YMI.

A feature of the meeting was a performance by the uniformed drill team of Ignatian council.

Talks were given by a number of the grand officers, including David I. Mahoney, grand president; John J. Oldham, grand director; Edward Cone, council deputy, and Arthur Bauer, district deputy. Other officers present were William J. Murphy, past grand president; H. C. Nixon, grand director.

Chaplain Father Duffy also spoke, as did Brother Alfred, moderator of the campus organization.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Day Dog Athletes Of Soph Class Can't Use $10

Sophomore day students this week voted to return to the class treasury the sum of $10 which was voted for their use at a general class meeting held recently.

The reason for the about-face was "too much indifference," according to Bob Johnson, spokesman for the sophomore day students, who will return the money at the next regular class meeting.

The money originally had been given the day students for the purpose of purchasing athletic equipment for their use in the gymnasium.

Brother Leo Speaks Several Times In Coming Week

During the coming week Brother Leo is scheduled to give several important talks in the vicinity of the bay area.

These include: Friday, October 7, 8 p.m., at San Francisco University of California extension school. This will be the last opportunity to enter the course on "The Vital Study of Literature."

On Monday, October 10, Veterans' Memorial auditorium, San Francisco, 8:15 p.m.: "When You and I Were Young"; Tuesday, October 11, San Mateo high school, "The Professional Spirits" and at 8:15 p.m. at the ballroom of the Western Women's club in San Francisco, "The Other One Was Booth." On Wednesday, October 12, at 8 p.m., Berkeley University of California extension school; Thursday, October 13, Presentation Convent, Berkeley, 11 a.m.: "Speaking for Stage, Screen, and Radio."

Day Students Hear Lecture byTeaching Group Executive

Day students assured the continuance of a special series of lectures by the Saint Mary's College Teachers association when they turned out in representative numbers at Tuesday's gathering in Dante hall.

The initial meeting was a duplicate of last week's discussion for the boarders. A general review of the teaching field and its requirements was made by Thomas Twomey, assistant recorder, who is the executive secretary of the association.

A new speaker will be brought to the campus and in a regular series of talks the details connected with teaching requirements and coaching will be discussed at the next meeting.

Peace Club Sets Stage for Part In Conference

Local Men to Head Discussions at San Rafael Meeting

To discuss the part that the Saint Mary's International Relations club will play in the northern California-Nevada region of International Relations clubs to be held on the campus of Dominican college October 28-29, was the purpose of a meeting called this week by Charles Carroll, president of the local peace club.

Three members of the Saint Mary's International Relations club will be prepared to head roundtable discussions at the meeting, Carroll told the gathering.

"The Future of Racial Minorities" may be discussed by John Williams, debate manager, while Alvin Quittman, COLLEGIAN editor, and Joseph Donnelly, senior honor student, may head discussions on "Europe and International Security" and "Economic Readjustments for World Peace" respectively.

Participating in the conference will be representatives from San Francisco College for Women, Mills college, the University of Nevada, and Chico and San Jose state colleges, according to advance information received by Carroll.

Attending the first meeting of the local International Relations club were the following new members: Robert Fleitz, Paul Johnson, Thomas Heidenreich, John Sullivan, John Williams, George Carter, and Joseph McCarthy.

Veteran members of the club are Carroll, Donnelly, Quittman, and James Rarig.

ALUMNI NOTES

Preferred Seats

Due to the fact that this year Saint Mary's will occupy the small side of Kezar stadium at the Santa Clara game, good seats will be at a premium.

The game, even at this early date, gives promise of being one of the outstanding games of the season, and the ticket office announces that they have already recieved numerous applications for tickets.

These facts should give fair warning to all members of the alumni—both active and inactive. To the active it should suggest that they send in their application without delay as requests are filed according to the date of their receipt and the rule of "First come, first served" applies.

To the inactive members it should suggest that they remedy the situation immediately by paying their dues and thus become active members.

Remember that the closing date for applications is October 28 and only those members on the active list prior to that time will receive ticket preferences.

It should also be remembered that, as only active members of the association receive the COLLEGIAN, many of those who would profit most by this notice will not read it. All active members, therefore, can do their inactive friends a great favor by calling this fact to their attention and impressing upon them the advantages of paying their dues prior to October 28.

Job Available

Any alumnus who has specialized in forestry, botany, zoology or geology is qualified to apply for a civil service position with the State in the capacity of State Park Nature Guide.

The closing date for applications is October 29, and anyone who is interested may obtain additional information by communicating with Executive Director, C. Wesley Davis, 941 Monadnock Building, San Francisco, Sutter 3321.

Directors Meet

The next regular meeting of the board of directors will be held in San Francisco on Thursday, October 13, at the Maison Paul Grill at 6:15.

President Andrew F. Burke informs us that several matters of great importance to the association are to be discussed, and he hopes that all the directors will be in attendance.

Former Gaels Win

One of our informants has written in to tell us that Al Nichelini and Jack Danilovich, coaches at Weed high school, won their first game of the season against Ashland high school by a score of 13 to 6.

He also tells us that Al Nichelini is teaching history and journalism.

Lost and Found

Following a plan inaugurated in a recent issue of the COLLEGIAN, we are listing below the names of several members of the Alumni who have moved without leaving a forwarding address. Anyone having any information concerning the present location of these members can assist us in maintaining our alumni records by communicating their information to Executive Director, C. Wesley Davis, 941 Monadnock Building, San Francisco:

Saint Mary's Club Members True Friends of College

TWICE a year they have their day at Saint Mary's. Twice a year they bring their families and their friends to Justin grove for a day of picnicking, games, dancing, and an all-around good time. Usually the highlight of the program is an athletic event of some kind. Spring football practice traditionally ends with the holding of a game on Saint Mary's club day.

In addition to the privilege of using the facilities of the campus twice a year, club members receive the COLLEGIAN, and are given preferred seat privileges at Saint Mary's football games. There you have listed the imposing group of benefits which the club members receive from the college and its students.

On the other side of the ledger let's see what these friends of Saint Mary's give to the college in return, keeping in mind the fact that they never attended the school, and previous to their membership in the Saint Mary's club had no connection whatsoever with this institution.

Whenever there is a drive for funds, a dinner, or any other event that needs enthusiastic support the Saint Mary's club is asked to help, and help it does. Among the campus activities that have felt the helping hand of the club are the COLLEGIAN, the Gael, the Moraga Quarterly, and debating, as represented by contributions to the debate tour fund.

Baseball uniforms have been purchased for the Phoenix, a grass infield has been planted on the local baseball diamond, scholarships have been made possible, all through the continued generosity of the men who make up the Saint Mary's clubs of San Francisco and Contra Costa counties.

Any attempt to list completely the many benefits which the college has received from the Saint Mary's club is bound to fall short of its purpose. Likewise any attempt to list the friends of Saint Mary's will not be complete unless the Saint Mary's club is among those which head the list.

The record speaks for itself!

Student Attendance at Local Debates Requested

TUESDAY a revitalized debating department under the direction of William Simon, moderator, and John Williams, debate manager, opens a fall forensic campaign that gives promise of being bigger and better than any other first semester of debating activity ever presented on this campus.

Working with a fairly large group of debaters, the men in charge will be in a position to produce programs that will have variety both in speakers and topics. However, no debater derives a great deal of satisfaction from addressing an audience consisting of the chairman, the time keeper, the debate manager, and his opponents.

Saint Mary's has always prided itself upon the large turnouts that have attended forensic encounters in past years. The continued support of students in the rôles of spectators is necessary if a carefully planned debating program is to be developed to the full limit of its potentialities. You can insure the success of one of the most important campus activities by attending local debates!

Looking for Honor Among Nations Height of Futility

WAR has been averted in Europe with the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Throughout the world there is a genuine sense of relief that the dangerous Sudeten problem was solved over the conference table rather than on the battlefield. However, along with that sense of relief there has come a wave of repulsion generated by the methods used in solving the Sudeten question.

People everywhere are asking themselves "Were France and England justified in selling out Czechoslovakia to avert war?" "Was it the honorable thing to do when France, England, Italy, and Germany decided the fate of Czechoslovakia without permitting the Czechs to be represented at the fateful conference?

In answering these questions the public has been shocked to discover that the only possible answers were that France and England were not justified in selling out the country whose security they had guaranteed under the trems of the Versailles treaty, and that according to all ethical codes Czechoslovakia should have been accorded some representation at the fateful Munich conference.

However, if those who were shocked at the double dealing of the two great European "democracies" took a little time to review the history of nations, they would find that there is little to justify their misplaced faith in nations and diplomats.

Americans, especially since the World War, should be convinced thoroughly that honor among nations is even more legendary than honor among thieves. The bundle of worthless promises to pay foisted upon the United States in return for American loans of money and material is evidence that honor among nations is as difficult to find as the pot of gold rumored to be at the end of a rainbow.

However, if there were still some Americans naive enough to believe that there is honor among nations as well as thieves, the recent actions of the countries involved in the settlement of the Czech situation should convince them that the thieves are more worthy of their faith than the nations of the world.

Moraga Musings

If any of the campus camera fiends should fail to perform in accordance with their usual scholastic standards, blame it upon the new darkroom installed in Galileo hall. More work is done there than any other spot on the campus, the Muser's operatives report.

Among the leading camera boys of the campus are Al Speckens, Joe Donnelly, and John Lewellyn.

Today a considerable number of the Muser's boys depart for Los Angeles to see the Loyola game. In case they should feel a false sense of security, they are reminded that distance is a handicap that is easily overcome by the All Knowing One. And those that are remaining at home needn't think that they can get in their licks without the Muser hearing about it.

DID YOU KNOW THAT . . .

Professor Simon's Monday evening public speaking class will soon have put in enough overtime to justify the suspension of class for the rest of the semester. Strange as it may seem, the fault is not the professor's—the fellows all want their chance to be heard.

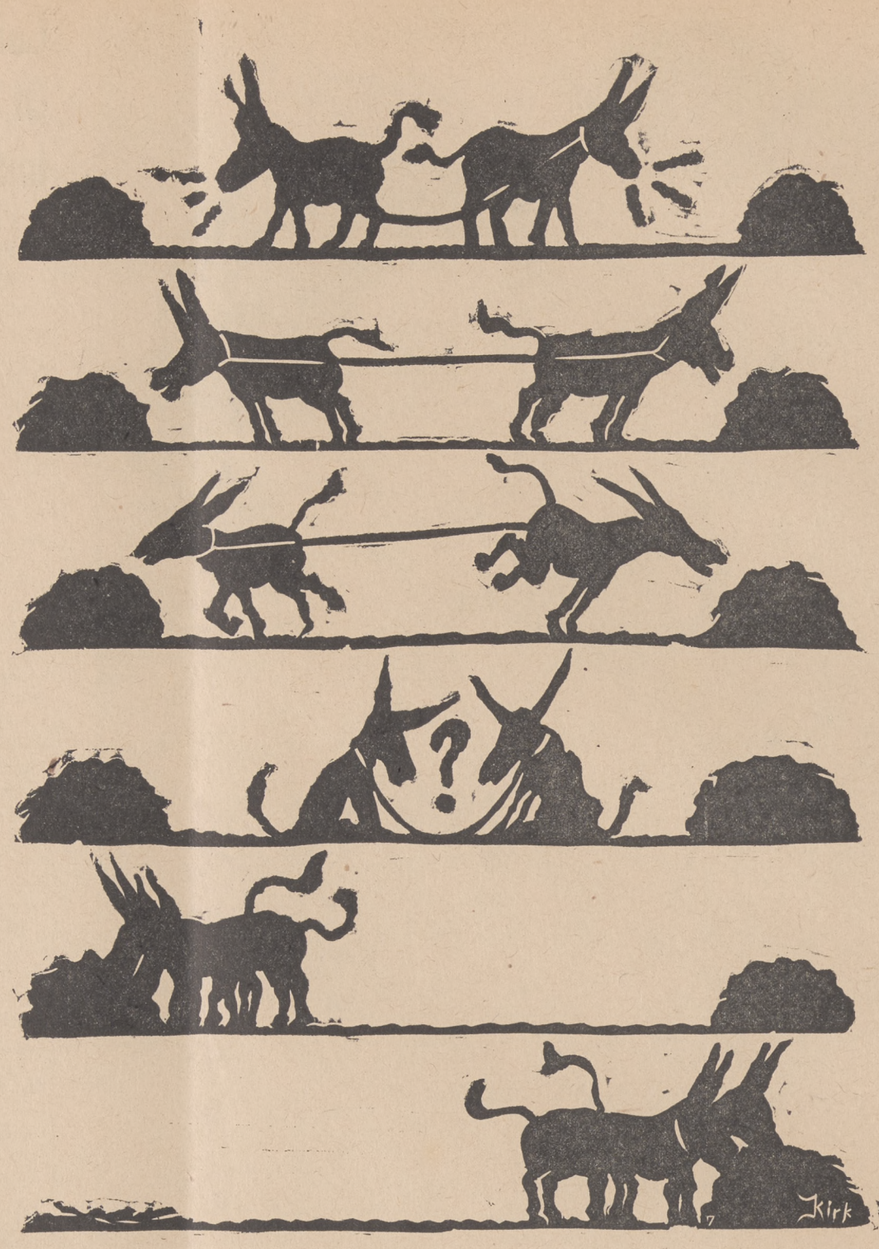
It's easy to spot an Arts and Letters student the moment he opens his mouth. He surrounds his facts with so much baloney.

Jim Lankas and Joe Crawford were the centers of attraction at the Gonzaga game last Sunday. All the high school girls came to see them in order to get their student body cards punched.

Joe Cone and Bob Fleitz are making their first Loyola game trip. The boys expect to spend a peaceful weekend in the sunny south.

The Campus Characters, Cone and Carter, wish to thank their many friends for the donations received during the last week. The offerings will help to defray their expenses to Los Angeles, where the Characters will do missionary work among the southern savages.

The money received will be taken under armed guard from locker 13 to the Bank of Moraga where it will be counted. The two IOU's for $10 cannot be used, but after all the sentiment was there, and that's what counts in this world.



The Donkeys Solved the Problem

The constant bickering between San Francisco labor factions and San Francisco capital has been harrassing this area continuously for many years. If it is possible for two dumb animals to see the light, it is not too much to expect cooperation between two groups that cannot accomplish anything if they do not work together.

Outlooks and Insights

TO MANY READERS Czechoslovakia was an unknown land until Hitler's gestures of domination drove them to the atlas and the encyclopaedia. Some, who spurned such elementary aids, developed queer notions. There was the man who said that Hitler ought to be ashamed of himself for threatening a democracy which had endured through centuries.

Behind the War News

We are not sure of the extent to which democratic ideals obtain among the Czechs, but we are certain that the country did not exist prior to 1918. Bohemians, Slavs, Poles, Hungarians and Germans were dumped into the same box and the label Czechoslovakia was pasted on. The original Bohemia was a trouble spot from the days of the Thirty Years War to the Treaty of Versailles, that is, from 1718 to 1918. Austrian rulers attempted, often rigorously, to stamp out the Hussite heresy, and injudicious things were done in the name of God.

As soon as the synthetic country came into existence in 1918, anti-Catholic rioting took on huge proportions. In beautiful Prague the statue of our Blessed Lady was hurled from its pedestal in the public square. Nearly a million nominal Catholics seceded from the Church and became violent bigots with the usual intensity of converts and perverts.

The Czech government followed the crowd. The first years of the young republic were marked by persecution of the Catholic minorities and the effort to deprive them of their civic rights. Parliament was openly and grossly inimical to Catholic interests. But, as in Germany in the days of Bismarck, the stress of the times brought into existence a Catholic party which became extraordinarily powerful and wrested one concession after another from the reluctant Czech government. An agreement with the Pope was signed in 1927.

Thomas Masaryk, a really big man, saw the danger of internal dissension and smoothed out religious difficulties. Benes has followed his example. The condition of the Catholic Church in Czechoslovakia has been quiet for more than ten years.

And the Green Grass Grew

AN ITEM perhaps too remote in subject and too lengthy in form to get into our interesting "Collegiana," may find a more fitting home in this column:

"OXFORD, England.—Pickaxes and shovels are turning many of Oxford's ancient quadrangles from gravel to grass. Peckwater in Christ Church now has a smooth green lawn where once was earth and stone. The same can be said of the front quad of the Queen's College.

"Workmen are busy laying the foundations of a lawn in the front court yard of Oriel, beneath the great Oriel window of the room in which John Keble wrote several of his best-known hymns. This college is one of the half-dozen oldest in Oxford. It was founded by Edward II in 1326, and celebrated its six hundredth anniversary twelve years ago with a state visit from the King, who is official visitor."

Our head gardener would say that Oxford is slowly but steadily catching up with Saint Mary's.

Thoughts of the Week

"THE QUALITY of doing more than is required is the distinctive quality of the true Christian and the unfailing index of nobility of life."—Rev. Dr. John A. O'Brien, Chaplain, University of Illinois.

"Would that I could hear a simple man speak simply of the great facts of the Soul, in the language of his own time!"—The Journals of Bronson Alcott.

"I cannot resist the conviction . . . that the West, in everything properly American as distinguished from English and the provincial spirit of the East, is taking the lead."—The Journals of Bronson Alcott.

"The average American is absolutely committed to the ideal of freedom of speech—except when he disagrees with what is being said."—Walter A. Terpenning in The Forum.

An eagle is not unlike many humans of great repute: dressed up in his feathers and wings, he looks important; but divested of those trappings, he is sadly wanting in impressiveness and substance, being mostly beak, wing-bone and leg muscle.—Kenneth Roberts in Northwest Passage.

The word prostitute should either not be used at all, or else applied impartially to all persons who do things for money that they would not do if they had any other assured means of livelihood.—George Bernard Shaw in The Admirable Bashville.

The Bystander

By Bill Glackin

We have just hit upon what we think is a pretty terrific idea—in a small way. The possibilities of it are so fundamental, so far-reaching, that it scares us, kind of. We're afraid we're going to need help in carrying it out, but when we do put it over, this world will be nothing short of Utopia.

Maybe you've noticed, as we have, that things in the world lately seem to be drifting from bad to worse. Not only over in Europe and Asia, but right here at home, men seem to be less and less able to get along with each other peaceably. Well, we think we've found the answer. We've been hearing it on the air every day for three years now and just realized its possibilities. What the world needs is a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills!

Stop that snickering and listen: for years now radio announcers who seem to know more than anybody else in the world, have been driving home the fact that nothing cures a grouch more quickly or more surely than the aforementioned C.L.L.P's. In brilliant little dramas they have shown us how cranky husbands become model spouses, how dub golfers break into the sub-par class overnight, how stock salesmen get That Big Order, all through one helpful little suggestion from a friend who knows the efficacy of these little pills. Any near-consistent radio listener can tell you how they do the work of calomel (without the danger of calomel) so well that "most folks feel like happy days are here again." Well, all we're suggesting is that this wonderful work be carried to its logical conclusion with a world-wide program.

It staggers us to think of the good this could bring about. A single dose applied to every picket on the streets of San Francisco would bring peace and harmony between unions and retailers in no time at all. Two or three administered to Mayor Rossi, and Beniamino Bufano could go to work on his statue of Saint Francis tomorrow. A box apiece to Harry Green, John L. Lewis, and Tom Girdler would make the National Labor Relations Board unnecessary. And we don't think that it would take more than two boxes—taken in one mouthful, of course—to prompt Handsome Adolf to give back the Sudetenland to Czechoslovakia, and apologize at that.

The more we think of it the better it sounds. In fact, we think we'll run down to the drug store right now and stock up so we can start mailing them out tonight. We wouldn't be surprised if something came out of this.

Dates at a Discount

San Jose State Teachers' college date bureau offered rates for the first two social functions of the college year. Regular fee for registration is 10 cents, but the bureau took students' names for a nickel apiece. Last year 100 students were supplied with dates through this medium. A real money-making proposition.

Traditions in Vogue

October 15 will be Dads' day at Northwestern. Arrangements are being made for fathers and mothers of students to sit in the college rooting section at the football game. Immediately after an athletic victory at Iowa State, freshmen make a dash to the victory bell and ring it "long and loudly." It is the college's most famous tradition.

Prince Makes $1.85 Daily

Prince Fumitaka Konoye, "Butch" to his former Princeton classmates, is cashing in on his 7 years of education in the U.S., at the rate of $1.85 a day. After working 20 days for his father, Premier Konoye of Japan, "Butch" gave the first money he ever earned (130 yen) to the army for national defense.

Excerpt from the Gonzag Bulldog:

We just received a telegram from Slip Madigan:

All we have to say is, "Slips don't count."

Just Another Tax

The students' association of the University of Texas offers a complete program of entertainment from football to light opera for $10.50. Admission to campus events is through the form of the blanket tax, advance payment for university athletic and cultural activities.
